

PREVAILING WAGE REGULATIONS

Presented by National Association of Women in Construction

Making the move from residential/commercial construction projects to government-funded construction projects, which have certified payroll reporting requirements, can be overwhelming for most contractors, their office staff, and the accounting professionals who support them. This often misunderstood requirement can lead to major problems, including non-approval of payment requisitions, denial of payment for change orders and claims, and contract termination. Don't get caught in a payroll certification trap; learn the ins and outs of federal certification payroll requirements and get all your questions answered

Kurt Klinghammer, an investigator with Missouri Division of Labor Standards Wage & Hour Section will present a seminar on the Prevailing Wage Laws on February 15 at the Conference Center at 635 Maryville Centre, Lower Level across from the Seasons Restaurant.

Kurt works for the Missouri Division of Labor Standards, handling Prevailing Wage Law, Minimum Wage Law and Child Labor compliance where he has been an investigator for 28 years.

Make plans now to attend this informational workshop and spread the word to anyone you know that deals with contracts requiring prevailing wages.
