

Seeking Sponsors for Construction Industry Education Program

The Construction Industry faces a workforce shortage that poses a serious problem for our national economy. In order to meet the demand for construction, the industry needs to attract, educate and train about 240,000 newcomers annually.

The National Association of Women in Construction (NAWIC) recognizes the need for educating others to influence the future growth of the industry, and we have made it part of our strategic plan to do so through several programs.

One of our most popular programs is our Block Kids Building Competition. It is a National building competition that is sponsored on the local level by NAWIC chapters and other organizations. The award-winning program introduces children to the construction industry in an effort to create awareness and promote careers in the industry.

This year will be the 31st year the St. Louis Chapter of NAWIC has organized this competition in our area. The competition will be open to the community and we will be inviting children in grades 3 – 6 to participate. The children will be given interlocking blocks and about an hour to create based on instructions given.

The children will have lunch while their projects are being judged and then we will have a short awards ceremony.

We invite you to be a part of this amazing program by purchasing one of the following sponsorship packages! THANK YOU in advance for your support!
